🪔🪔🪔 UPDATA | November Newsletter 2023 🪔🪔🪔

Dear Ankeshita Caleb,

Welcome to the November edition of our newsletter.

With the change in winds, our aspirations and goals are also evolving. This month, discover our Comprehensive Training programs delivered in regional languages, hear our dedicated researchers share their experiences from the field, and gain insight into our new and upcoming ventures focused on education and health.

As the season of sharing and celebration arrives, our team also conducted a donation drive for the underprivileged communities in Delhi-NCR and held an insightful conversation with students of an esteemed University about their aspirations in the social development sector.

We pray that this Diwali brought to your life joy, success, and hope one needs to make the year ahead full of happiness.

Wish you a very happy and prosperous Diwali.

PROJECTS

Outline India, with USAID, is undertaking a project on MOMENTUM Routine Immunization Transformation and Equity. This research project aims to assess the integration of COVID-19 vaccination with essential health services and the overall health system in eight countries. The assessment also covers various components such as management, financing, procurement, service delivery, data systems, and demand generation. It involves Tamil Nadu in India and states in seven other countries, facilitated by the collaborative efforts of the USAID-supported MOMENTUM and HSSA projects, with the Ministry of Health.

📍 Rajasthan & Karnataka

Outline India is collaborating on a project with AIR and the study focuses on the relationship between the medium of instruction and students' success. It is geared around understanding how linguistic diversity in primary classrooms hinders or encourages students' academic growth, and the challenges faced by the schools, students, and community in pursuing multilingual teaching and learning processes.

WORKSHOPS

Outline India recently held a workshop for MA students of Ambedkar University Delhi where the aim was to help them better understand the ground realities of how research work is conducted in real life rather than in an academic setting. The session, A Deep Dive with Outline India: Unveiling Grassroots Realities, was interactive as the researchers talked to the students about how to conduct an end-to-end study and shared their experiences, both good and bad - from the field.

During our session, the AUD students had the opportunity to discuss various aspects of research, monitoring & evaluation, data collection, and how to value the cultural norms at the grassroots. This exchange of ideas and insights was incredibly enriching and contributed to a meaningful dialogue. Overall, the session fueled our commitment to Outline India's mission.

Outline India's Founder, Perna Mukharya was the panelist at the Indian School of Business for a Data Portal 2.0 launch and spoke at the Bharti Institute of Public Policy, ISB.

The portal is a state-of-art platform re-engineered to revolutionize data accessibility, analysis, and visualization. It promotes evidence-based policymaking in the country and allows users to seamlessly bring graphs from an extensive repository of over 3,400 indicators. These indicators encompass a rich array of more than 120 datasets from 25 vast spectrum - Climate and Weather, Commerce, Crime, Economy, Education, Financial Inclusion, Fisheries and Animal Husbandry, Food and Agriculture, Forestry and Wildlife, General, Government Schemes, Health, Nutrition, Rural Development, Socio Economic, and Union Budget and many more.

OI ON FIELD

Training & Capacity Building
- Outline India

Our research team conducted field training in Kerala with the enumerators in the regional language - Malayalam. The provision of training in the local dialect showcases the team's cultural awareness and the organization's dedication to fostering inclusivity.

This approach not only empowered the enumerators but also facilitated effective research and communication by bridging linguistic barriers. It led to good-quality data collection using advanced tools and techniques for positive social transformation.

DONATION DRIVE

In a heartwarming display of compassion and generosity, our teams came together and donated clothes and rations to support those in need, especially as harsh winter winds are just around the corner. This initiative was led by the team's dedication to social work and Outline India's commitment to making a positive change in the lives of those less fortunate. All this was made possible through the power of collective generosity that served as a source of inspiration for both, employees and the wider community.
